Meeting the challenge of online safety through community collaboration.
Digital parent education and training + Cyber danger warnings
+ School and community engagement

The Value

Schools impact communities. With many schools purchasing devices for students to use in class or take home, they are now technologically impacting the community.

The problem is, most parents today aren't sure how to be effective digital parents. As a result, when a child is issued a device - by their parents or school - it can easily become a distraction and used in an inappropriate way.

As a trusted resource to the community, we aim to assist our clients to produce good digital citizens by providing guided communication to the parent community, including online education and awareness, timely warnings of cyber dangers, and app reviews and updates.
